WASTE PLANT PROTESTORS RALLY TOWN FOR SUPPORT

FURIOUS opponents of plans to open a waste transfer site a few hundred yards from homes and a primary school are calling for the support of the whole town to block it.

During a public meeting on Tuesday at Tany's Dell School – which is located less than 200 yards from the site in Templefields – local residents, business owners, councillors and school staff vowed to continue their fight.

With concerns voiced over increased traffic, noise, vermin and pollution as well as the detrimental effect the site may have on local property values and businesses, it was decided an action group should be set up to explore other ways of stopping the project.

Councillors said the waste plant would affect the entire town and urged “each and every” resident in Harlow to support the campaign.

“If this development goes ahead then we are going to have 100 container lorries bigger than those that drive for Tesco coming in and out of Harlow every day,” said Tony Durcan, Labour county councillor for the Harlow West division.

“The lorries are not sealed and we have seen the drainage that comes out when they are travelling. The fact is it will cause chaos and mess for everyone in Harlow, not just those living in the immediate area. We need the entire community’s support on this.”

There was also anger at the way voting was conducted at last month’s meeting of Essex

Your chance to become a 2012 Games ambassador

HARLOW residents are being urged to enter the running to become Essex ambassadors for the London 2012 Olympics.

Essex County Council is seeking volunteers to be the face of the county and give a warm welcome to everyone visiting the area up to and during next year's Olympic Games.

Volunteers will be required to provide information and guidance on Olympic events, transport queries and general tourist information at the main transport hubs across Essex.

They will also act as stewards at the events leading up to the Games.

Councillor Tony Hall, portfolio holder for environment and Harlow Council's Olympic champion, said: "Essex will receive visitors from all over the UK and the world. "With the Games taking place just down the road we want Harlow and local people to benefit.

"By volunteering and representing Essex this is a chance for residents to learn new skills, meet lots of new people, add experience to their CV and be part of the London 2012 experience."

Essex ambassadors must live or work in the county, be 16 or over on January 1, 2012 and be able to commit to volunteering and attend three compulsory training sessions.

To find out more or to apply to become an Essex ambassador visit www.essexlegacy.org or visit your local volunteer centre.

Application forms are also available from local libraries and Harlow Civic Centre. But you will have to be quick as the closing date for applications is October 31.

Council inviting bids to run nature reserve

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

PARNDON Wood Nature Reserve is the latest Harlow Council-run attraction to be put out to tender as the authority presses on with controversial plans to offload its discretionary services.

Private and voluntary sector organisations have until next month to register their interest in taking over the reserve, which provides educational programmes for young people and acts as a base for various conservation activities.

The Museum of Harlow and Pets' Corner have already been advertised and the council is confident of securing formal bids for both services.

There have also been informal expressions of interest from one commercial organisation and a local charity in running The Playhouse, while the authority is currently locked in talks with interested parties over the future of the Town Park Bandstand, paddling pools and arts service.

Joel Charles, portfolio holder for community and citizenship, said he was pleased with the progress made since the plans were first mooted at a conference in July.

"Since we started this ambitious project I have been delighted by the level of interest in our community services from both not-for-profit and commercial organisations," he told the Star.

"For many of the services we are now reaching a crucial stage in the process. Talks are continuing with a number of organisations and I'm confident that discussions will result in firm proposals which will protect the future of these popular services."

If successful bidders are found, the council hopes to have contracts in place by April 1 next year. But it remains unclear what will happen to each service if no deal has been struck by the deadline.

Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson said he remained "deeply sceptical" about the Tory administration's plans.

"The most worrying thing for our group and for Harlow residents is the fact that there are no guarantees in place over the long-term future of these services," he said this week.

"It's all very well to say that expressions of interest have been received, but where are the guarantees that these hugely popular services will remain open, accessible and affordable for Harlow people in the long-term?"

"Some of these services will inevitably attract more interest than others but what happens to the ones no-one wants to take on. Will the council offer a buy-one-get-one free deal or will they simply disappear?"

Waste plant protestors rally town for support

County Council's development and regulation committee, with some claiming the chairman had demanded a second vote after the first went against the transfer station.

The newly-formed action group agreed to lodge a formal complaint against the procedure.

Shortly after the meeting, Harlow MP Robert Halfon and Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson both pledged their support for the campaign.

"The action group one million per cent have my support," said Mr Halfon. "I went to Essex County Council to lobby against the transfer during that planning meeting and will continue to do everything the action group want me to do to try and stop this development."

Cllr Johnson added: "There is a sizeable group opposed to the waste transfer station and their voice needs to be heard."

But Kevin Bentley, ECC's cabinet member for economic development and waste, said detailed investigations had been carried out to ensure the plant will not have negative effects for local residents and businesses.

"An odour management system will be installed within the facility to minimise emissions, which is proven to be fully compliant with Environment Agency benchmarks for preventing an unacceptable level of odour pollution," he said.

"The impact on traffic will also be minimal as the site is only expected to generate around 14 trips per hour at peak times. Our assessment into the noise that the new site would generate found there would be only a small increase, with no significant adverse impact on Tany's Dell Primary School or residential areas.

"There is no reason to suggest that the facility will attract vermin, as the site will be well managed and any waste will be transported securely. There will also be routine inspections carried out by the Environment Agency."

● To support or join the action group, email Michael Hustwitt at infor@lavertechnology.com.

Memory café serves up dementia support

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

STAFF and volunteers running a café-style drop-in centre for anyone concerned about dementia are raising awareness about the services they provide in the community.

The memory café run by the Harlow Alzheimer's Society is an information and support resource for people who have been diagnosed with dementia, their carers and those worried about memory loss.

Run by a team of qualified nurses and volunteers, the informal sessions take place every Monday from 10am-noon and all are welcome to attend.

"The café is essentially a drop-in centre offering all the information on anything to do with dementia-related illnesses so people can make their own informed decisions," explained manager Vivian Allen.

"We run a very informal sitting where people can have tea or coffee and talk through anything that is worrying them.

"Regular guest speakers are invited in to talk about new developments for dementia sufferers and as well as health-related advice we can also address things like financial and legal concerns that may come up as a result of being diagnosed dementia.

"Generally it is about helping to prepare people for the future early."

The café is funded by the Harlow Health Care Trust and run by the Alzheimer's Society. Vivian said the group is keen to make sure that everyone in the area affected by condition knows their help available.

"The main thing is that people are aware of us and can take advantage of the service if they want to," she said.

"It isn't a club but it is a place where people experiencing the tragic affects of dementia can receive support and also meet others going through similar circumstances."

She added: "We have an absolutely fantastic team who all ultimately have the same aim of helping to make people's lives that little bit easier."

The Memory Café is held at Moot House in The Stow and is one of a number of services run by the Alzheimer's Society in Harlow.

For more information email harlow@alzheimers.org.uk or call (01279) 418331. The group is also always eager to recruit new volunteers; anyone interested in helping out can get in touch via the same number.

Zumbathon for cancer charity

DANCE lovers are being encouraged to join a fundraising zumbathon.

Organised by Harlow zumba instructor Jenny Lucking, the event will see participants doing the dance-fitness craze for two hours in aid of Cancer Research UK.

"As a breast cancer survivor this charity is very important to me and I am hoping to raise as much as possible for them," said Jenny.

"There will be me and two other instructors running the zumbathon and it will be a really fun way to raise money for this brilliant cause as well as getting fit. There will also be a raffle with some great prizes."

The event takes place at Passmores Academy in Traces Road on Saturday, November 5 from 10.30am-12.30pm. Participants are asked to arrive at 10am to register and tickets cost £10 each. For more information, call Jenny on 07772 467 834.

Hallowe'en fun for two worthy causes

GHOSTS, ghouls and witches will be celebrating the year's spookiest weekend at a Hallowe'en charity night on Saturday.

The event is being organised by Harlow mums Natalie Kent and Mandy Bunyan in aid of Meningitis UK and SANDS.

"It's set to be a great night," said Natalie, whose daughter was stillborn earlier this year. Mandy lost her son to meningitis almost four years ago.

"We have a disco, live band, buffet, and auction with items including a Frank Bruno signed boxing glove and VIP tickets to see Jason Mansfield.

"It is fancy dress and we even have a face painter and professional photographer to help make the night really memorable!"

The party kicks off at Harlow Town Football Club from 7pm and tickets cost £15 per adult with children free. For more information or to purchase tickets call 07984 002570.

Lottery winners

The winner of the £1,000 prize in the weekly St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, October 21 is ticket holder 497325, who lives in Harlow.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 224467, who also lives in Harlow.

Bankers battle white water to aid Macmillan

BANK staff from Harlow have raised thousands of pounds for charity by taking part in a white water rafting challenge.

Seven staff from Barclays' Water Gardens branch and three from the Old Harlow branch joined colleagues from neighbouring Epping and Ongar to tackle the rapids at the Olympic white water centre at Waltham Cross in aid of Macmillan Cancer Support.

They split into teams before braving the waves and are hoping to have raised more than £5,000 towards the Barclay's East of England campaign which is aiming to reach a £150,000 total by the end of this year to donate to the charity supporting specialist cancer nurses.

Clare Savage, assistant manager at the Water Gardens branch, said: "We all had a great day. Not only is it a great team building exercise but it was also a lot of fun for a good cause.

"We think that as a branch we have raised in the region of £1,500 for Macmillan which is brilliant."

Tracey Dodd, area community manager for Barclays, added: "We are always keen to support Macmillan through daring and challenging fundraising events. Earlier this year our skydive proved a huge success and we were keen to raise even more through the white water rafting activity.

"Our staff took part for many different reasons. Many of us have had personal experiences related to cancer while some of us are doing it to face our own fears. However, the main motivation we all shared was to contribute to the amazing service Macmillan provides."

Lib Dem defects over NHS reform

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

THE Liberal Democrats were left with a single representative on Harlow Council this week after one of the party's two councillors defected to Labour.

Staple Tye ward councillor John Strachan said the Lib Dem's unwillingness to stand up to health secretary Andrew Lansley's controversial NHS Reform Bill had been the "final straw" in his decision to defect.

Speaking to the Star after receiving his Labour membership card from shadow health secretary Andy Burnham at the party's Westminster base, Cllr Strachan said he was fed up with Lib Dems MPs "kowtowing" to the Conservatives in the coalition.

"Lib Dem MPs have continually broken their pledges to voters," he said. "We've already seen them do a U-turn over student tuition fees and later this year we'll see the Localism Bill pushed through."

"I could no longer be a member of a party that refused to stand up for the NHS and the rights of patients, doctors and nurses."

"The reforms were never part of the coalition agreement so I cannot understand why the Liberal Democrats have agreed to support something which has the potential to destroy the health service as we know it."

Cllr Strachan's defection comes less than a year after former Lib Dem Manny Doku joined the Labour ranks. It leaves the party with just one member – Mark Hall ward councillor Nick Macy.

Cllr Strachan stressed his decision had "nothing whatsoever" to do with the actions of local party members.

"My decision to join Labour is no reflection on the work of the local Liberal Democrat party, not at all," he said.

"They are all hard-working, principled individuals with a genuine desire to do their best for Harlow and its residents, but I had become so disillusioned with the party's activities nationally that I could no longer represent something I didn't believe in or agree with."

Labour group leader Mark

Wilkinson described Cllr Strachan's appointment as a "tremendous boost".

"I'm very pleased that John has decided to join us on the strength of what we are trying to do for the people of Harlow. As he has said to me, we're the party that's getting it right."

"I'm not surprised by his decision to join us. Lib Dem councillors, activists and voters across the country are becoming increasingly fed up with their party's willingness to bow down to the Tories in Government and recognise that Labour are the only party willing to stand up for the wishes of the people."

WELCOME: Andy Burnham, left, with Harlow councillor John Strachan

Warning to drivers over thefts of car exhaust gas converters

POLICE are warning motorists to be on their guard following a spate of catalytic converter thefts across Harlow.

Vans parked in Roydon Road, Elizabeth Way and Harold Close have been targeted by thieves looking to sell on the valuable components used to make the emission-controlling devices.

Crime reduction officer Graham Anthony advised drivers to protect their vehicles by parking in a garage or well-lit area.

"If your vehicle is isolated it makes it easier for a thief to crawl under and saw off the converter, which can be done in seconds," he said.

"Some converters are only attached to the car exhaust using bolts and this can make them even easier to remove. So have an auto shop weld it in place to make it more difficult for a thief to remove."

Tenants risk being left in the shade by solar panel deadline

HOUSEHOLDS eligible for participation in a pioneering solar panel project are being urged by Harlow Council to take advantage of the money-saving scheme before it is too late.

Kier Harlow, the joint venture company run by construction group Kier and Harlow Council, has already started work on installing photovoltaic panels to the roofs of 1,196 council-owned properties.

But the firm is still waiting for almost 250 households to confirm they want to take part.

Those who fail to register their interest will lose out, with substitute addresses in Harlow benefiting instead.

Councillor Clive Souter, portfolio holder for housing, told the Star this week: "It's important that we hear soon from those customers we've contacted who have still to accept or decline the PV panel offer."

"This is a great opportunity for residents to cut their electricity bill and the town's carbon footprint at the same time. Installation is quick and no-fuss, so make sure you contact Kier Harlow as soon as possible to take part!"

The free panels take just one day to install and could help cut an average household's annual energy bills by up to £190 for the next 25 years.

John Phillips, operations director for Kier Harlow, added: "The take-up of this opportunity has been fantastic and those tenants who have had surveys recently undertaken will hear from us soon as to the suitability of their home for PV."

"In the meantime we would like those who have yet to get in touch with us to do so urgently. This will ensure they do not miss out."

If you are one of the 250 tenants eligible for free solar panels and you have yet to register, then contact Laura Tew at Kier Harlow on (01279) 446368 or email laura.tew@kier.co.uk.

In my day behaviour like this wouldn't have been tolerated

SIR, Does anyone else feel the same as I do with regard to Educating Essex?

It is no wonder that the youth of today behave as they do when they are allowed to get away with such disrespectful behaviour as seen on this programme.

Do the teachers think that they are doing their school any favours for portraying it in this way? If I was looking for a secondary school for my child today this would not be it.

The blatant use of mobiles in the classroom, the total disregard for the teachers trying to teach, the disgusting language – it all beggars belief. All the teachers seem concerned with is the love lives and the petty quarrels of the students.

I understand that if a child has a problem it must be addressed, but quietly and away from other pupils.

In my day we were told to leave all that at the school gate and woe betide anyone who didn't. We had respect for our teachers and would never have dreamt of being rude or disrespectful because we knew the consequences from the school and our parents.

The other week I watched the Today programme on TV in which a headteacher had turned around a school in Hackney Downs that had been closed due to failure. He had zero tolerance for any bad behaviour and all the pupils seemed happy and well adjusted and most of all enjoyed school.

Come on, Passmores. Show us a nice side of the school; there surely must be one. I can only hope that everyone involved in this production were playing to the cameras, teachers included.

Views on travellers are not acceptable

SIR, Jim Pailing has written a disgraceful letter about travellers, riven with ignorance and prejudice (Letters, October 20). In fact I am very surprised the Star saw fit to print it.

Addressing the eviction at Dale Farm in Basildon, he considers that driving travellers from their homes and forcing children from their schools is acceptable because he doesn't like their lifestyle.

The Guardian newspaper has an interesting test of the content of writings about travellers. Substituting the words 'Jew' or 'Jewish' gives an insight, through the lens of anti-Semitism, into the real meaning of the text concerned.

In Mr Pailing's case it would read "any damage to (Jewish) children's education, the health of their disabled, sick and pregnant should be compared to their lifestyle. The criticism of Amnesty International, the United Nations and seven bishops would be better received by the law-abiding, tax-paying and hardworking majority if the (Jews) happened to live next door to them".

I think this makes his views plain. They are absolutely unacceptable in someone who has held and seeks to once more attain public office. How can he possibly defend or represent traveller constituents if he holds such prejudiced views about them?

Paul Topley
Altham Grove, Harlow

Are we ready to see off developers?

SIR, According to Harlow Council Andrew Johnson the council has acted with alacrity to the threat of invasion of our green spaces by the refugees from Dale Farm (Star, October 20).

I can only hope that the council is as vigilant and active in respect of the real threat to our green and pleasant town.

I refer of course to the developers camped on our boundary just waiting for the new planning proposals to become law.

Stuck in Europe to the bitter end

SIR, How odd that Les Coben feels the urge to take a rather cynical swipe at Harlow MP Robert Halfon (Letters, October 20).

I well understand the reason why a Labour luvvie finds him a little infuriating. After all, he had no need to be so up front about his expenses claim and if someone has told him he must get a second home claim going he has no right to refuse such a golden opportunity to fiddle a few bob as many other MPs have taken and are still taking.

And why is he so busy in his constituency and treating even Labour voters in the same even-handed way as those those who voted for him? Does he not realise that such heresy is not to be practiced in good party politics?

For Mr Coben's information, our MP is a committed member of the so-called Tory 100 whose aim is to get us out of Europe. I have corresponded with him at some length on the subject, as Mr Coben should if he really would like to hear his views on our membership of what is an even bigger gravy train for politicians than our parliament has been turned into during 13 years of Labour misrule.

I hasten to add that Mr Halfon and I are by no means as one when it comes to the timing of an exit from Europe. I see little harm in it happening sooner rather than later while he favours a rather long drawn out withdrawal process.

Whilst in the mood, Mr Coben could also drop a line to Mr Milliband and ask why he saw the need to introduce a three line whip to ensure the vote goes the way they decree.

But have no fear, Mr Coben. No party leader has any intention of applying a word like democracy in Parliament! So as sure as eggs is eggs we are in Europe to the bitter end or until British voters come to their senses and refuse to support MPs if they do not individually enter into a legally binding commitment to honour pre-election pledges made, with punitive financial penalties for failure to do so.

Alternatively Mr Coben, if you have nothing of value to write then please don't bother.

It's unfair to blame teenagers for mess

SIR, On last week's letters page I saw a headline that read "Teenagers using new area just like home". I strongly disagree with the views expressed in the letter.

I am a teenager and I do use this grass area, but I would like to say that I do not leave my takeaway rubbish laying around on it. People talk about teenagers these days as if they are a disgrace. Every adult has been one and I'm sure if they were our age nowadays they would get fed up with the comments that have been made about them.

I hear from from my grandmother and even my mother about the things they did in the 'good old days' and the wonderful things they had in town. Maybe if we still had these teenagers would use them and appreciate them.

The population of teenagers is growing higher and it seems the more there are the less things there are to do for us!

The new grass area that we have been given in town is somewhere to have our lunch and somewhere to sit. It is not only for us but for every generation.

I wonder if the person who wrote the letter has proof that the rubbish that has been strewn around the grass area by teenagers. Who knows, it could actually be from adults! And how does she know how we live at home?

Not every teenager wears a hoodie and mouths off to everyone. I'm 16, I work to get my money, I throw my rubbish in the bin, I'm polite and I do my bit to help the community!

Teenagers do not deserve these comments. I'm sure not every adult is perfect.

Football pitch left in a terrible state

SIR, I am writing to complain about the mess the children leave all over the place after practise on Saturdays at the London Road football pitch.

I am a resident of Newhall and every Saturday my husband and I go to the pitch for a walk. We see loads of empty bottles and crisp bags left on the grass after training.

I am very surprised as to why no-one has picked up the coaches and organisers for not speaking to the children about the mess they leave behind. Is football training just about learning skills with a ball or should they be instilling more skills such as caring for the pitch and environment? What kind of example are they setting?

I will be writing to the council to ask them to stop the children training there if this behaviour continues. I know that those people who use the field to walk dogs and play with their children will agree.

Pair champions of racial equality

SIR, Michael Hardware sneeringly asks what Fenner Brockway or David (not Frank) Kitson ever did for Harlow (Letters, October 20). Both devoted their lives to the struggle against apartheid in South Africa and racist discrimination in general.

Kitson spent nearly 20 years in a South African jail for his stand and Brockway, who introduced a Bill against racism 19 times in Parliament before a law was passed, was an Essex MP and spoke on several occasions in Harlow.

Is racial equality not a cause we should honour in our town? In which case will Mr Hardware be challenging the naming of Mandela Avenue?

Protestors demonstrate against Gilden Way homes plan

BANNER-waving demonstrators pitched up outside Harlow Civic Centre to protest against controversial plans to build homes on farmland off Gilden Way.

The group lobbied councillors arriving for Thursday's full council meeting and called on them to veto the proposals, which could see up to 1,200 homes, shops and community facilities built on the 49-hectare site bordering Old Harlow.

The protest was organised by Churchgate Street Residents' Association chairman Robin McCartney, who told the Star he had been disappointed by the reaction.

"We've become incredibly frustrated with the attitude of councillors over this issue so we wanted to try and engage some of them in meaningful debate by doing something they couldn't ignore," he said.

"But of the ones who didn't slip into the chamber via the back door, only a few even bothered to stop to talk to us at all."

He added: "There may be some people who believe this development is already a done deal but we're not going to give up so easily."

"Hopefully the protest reminded some of those councillors who will ultimately be making the decision that there are an awful lot of people very unhappy with these proposals."

Plea for fundraisers to let purple reign

HARLOW residents are being urged to go purple to help a cancer charity raise vital funds. Pancreatic Cancer UK is appealing to the local community to organise their own purple-themed fundraising events to help it achieve its goal of doubling patient survival rates over the next five years.

Pancreatic cancer is the most fatal of all cancers in the UK and the fifth most common cause of cancer deaths after breast, lung, bowel and prostate.

Charity ambassador and TV presenter Lorraine Kelly said: "Now is the time to create change and make a real difference to pancreatic cancer survival rates by saving the lives of up to 250 people each year."

MP toes the line over EU poll vote

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW MP Rob Halfon has defended his decision to vote against a Parliamentary motion calling for a referendum on Britain's continued membership of the European Union.

The Tory backbencher – one of 208 Conservative MPs who joined Prime Minister David Cameron in rejecting the non-binding motion on Monday night – told the Star he believed the timing was wrong for a public vote on the issue.

But 79 of his fellow Tories disagreed, defying a three-line whip to vote in favour of the proposals on a night when the PM suffered the biggest backbench rebellion of his premiership.

Speaking on Tuesday, Mr Halfon insisted he was "100 per cent in favour" of a referendum on Europe, but not during a period of huge economic uncertainty.

"In the current economic climate, when people are fearful for their jobs and are struggling to keep their head above water, now would not be the best time to win a referendum on getting our powers back from the EU or even push through referendum legislation in the House of Commons."

"There would be a strong likelihood that we would lose such a referendum now because people are understandably preoccupied with our economic difficulties. Given that there is likely to be a new EU Treaty in the near future, it is likely that referendum will come sooner rather than later."

He added: "I'm willing to pledge right here in the pages of the Star that when the time is right – and there is no doubt this issue will come up for debate again – I will vote in favour of holding a referendum."

Asked what implications the backbench mutiny would have on the long-term future of the Tory party, Mr Halfon said: "I think the Government will have to be a lot more eurosceptic from now on."

"There were clearly a lot of Tory MPs who believed very passionately in this motion and feel as though their views on Europe are not adequately represented, but I agree with David Cameron that this simply is not the right time to have that debate."

Work under way on new baby care unit

CONSTRUCTION work has started on Princess Alexandra Hospital's new intensive care unit for seriously ill newborn babies.

The neonatal intensive care unit is costing more than £1m to build and will open next spring, replacing the hospital's existing unit, which last year cared for more than 400 babies from across West Essex and East Herts.

The new facility will be considerably larger, providing more room and greater comfort and privacy.

The hospital is paying £1.1m to cover the cost of the project, but local residents have also contributed to the project with staff-led fundraisers already collecting more than £50,000 to help kit out the new NICU.

Darren Leech, chief operating officer of the PAH NHS Trust said: "The new build is part of our goal to be the best hospital in the east of England, putting patients at the absolute forefront of our care."

JEROUNDS INFANTS

Young bookworms dressed up as their favourite fictional characters as the Pyenest Road school held a week celebrating the joy of literature.

Harry Potter, Tigger and Buzz Lightyear were just a few of the storybook heroes represented at a dazzling assembly held on Friday to mark the culmination of a week of literature-related learning.

Headteacher Cath Holland said: "During the week all the children had been exploring different books by a selection of authors. This work finished with the children and teachers dressing up as their favourite characters for a colourful assembly parade.

"It was quite a sight to see everyone in their brilliant costumes and the children all had a great time while learning more about their favourite books and authors."

HUNDREDS of young film fans across Harlow enjoyed big screen action at a special cinema showing during National Schools Film Week.

The annual festival, which arranges thousands of free cinema tickets for pupils across the country, aims to support classroom teaching by providing schools with a movie experience that links directly with the curriculum.

Throughout the week youngsters from nine Harlow primary schools visited Cineworld at the Queensgate Centre to see a film before studying the motion picture in depth using online resources supplied on the Film Education website.

Festival director Nick Walker said: "Our aim is for teachers and students to feel massively engaged in the festival as it is an opportunity to not only to build the adventurous, film-loving audience of the future but also to develop passion in young people for this art form."

ST JAMES PRIMARY Budding young artists have created a beautiful new mural for all to admire.

Pupils have been busy designing and painting individual tiles inspired by the Biblical story of Noah's Ark, with each youngster creating their own colourful design using special ceramic paints and tools.

Once the tiles had dried they were fired in a kiln before being mounted. The completed mural is now on display in the Paringdon Road school's reception area.

Executive headteacher Pav Saunders said: "I am proud to show off the artistic talents of our staff and pupils to all our visitors.

"Everyone worked hard on their designs and really enjoyed the activity. The mural is a fitting representation of their team work."

Diane, 92, is asked for proof of age to buy bottle of scotch

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A 92-YEAR-old woman has slammed as "ludicrous" the rules that prevented a Harlow off-licence from selling her alcohol because she couldn't prove she was over the legal age of 18.

Diane Taylor, of Gladdens Court, was shocked when staff at the One Stop Shop convenience store in The Stow refused to sell her a bottle of whisky on the grounds she didn't have the "correct" identification documents.

The great-grandmother produced everything from her bus pass and OAP card to her pacemaker in a bid to prove her age but said staff still would not serve her.

"I was in a hurry and it caught me off guard when she asked to see some ID," said Mrs Taylor. "When I asked her to repeat herself it seemed so stupid that I thought she was complimenting me!

"But then I realised she was being serious so I pulled out everything from my bag – my bus pass, my OAP card, my blood donors card – even my pacemaker – but she said none of them were enough.

"When I asked her exactly what she wanted she said proof of age. But I don't have a passport or driving licence so what did they expect me to do?"

The shop's licence to sell alcohol was revoked by Harlow Council in 2007 after staff failed a series of test purchases, but the decision was overturned when the owners pledged to enforce a strict 'no ID, no sale' policy for anyone buying alcohol, regardless of how old they looked.

A One Stop Shop spokesman told the Star this week that the store had to enforce the policy or risk losing its licence.

"Although we are very sorry for the inconvenience caused, staff at the store are required to ask all customers for ID as a condition of its licence to sell alcohol," he added.

Transport police in plea over bike thefts

BRITISH Transport Police are appealing to cycle owners whose bikes have been stolen to contact them.

The appeal follows the arrest of a 19-year-old man in connection with the theft of a number of high-value cycles in Harlow and Bishop's Stortford. PC Hayley Hussey, of British Transport Police, said: "I am urging anyone whose bike has gone missing from either of these areas to contact police as we may be able to return it to you."

Anyone who believes they may own one of the recovered bikes should contact British Transport Police on 0800 405040.

Council wins award for helping small business

HARLOW Council has won an award for its commitment to supporting small businesses.

The authority was one of just two to receive the Small Business Friendly Award 2011 from the Essex Federation of Small Businesses.

It was praised for working closely with the local business community and for being the driving force behind the town's successful bid for Enterprise Zone status.

Russell Perrin, portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise, said the authority was thrilled to receive the accolade.

"Harlow Council has always tried to encourage small businesses, most recently through our work with the West Essex Alliance, which brings together businesses and the public sector to help deliver economic growth and jobs," he said.

Football club 'is not going bust'

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexesnews.co.uk

THE co-owner of Harlow Town FC has moved to reassure supporters the club will not be pushed into administration despite being threatened with closure over unpaid tax bills.

HM Revenue & Customs has filed a petition to wind up the business for failing to pay outstanding debts. It is set to present its case at the High Court on November 14.

If it succeeds in convincing the judge to issue a winding-up order, the club – currently flying high in the Ryman League Division One North – could fold unless the money owed is paid up in full or a new buyer is found.

But HTFC director Tom Cunningham told the Star this week the matter was “in hand” and would be resolved without any adverse impact on the club.

“Since we’ve taken over we’ve had to deal with a lot of problems and have worked extremely hard to bring stability and success to the club,” he said. “This is just another issue that needs resolving.

“I want to assure our loyal supporters that we have the matter in hand and it will be dealt with. There’s absolutely no need for anyone to worry about the club going into administration because we will quite simply not let that happen.”

It is the second time HTFC has fallen foul of the taxman in recent years. Before Mr Cunningham and business partner John Barnett took over in February last year the club escaped liquidation after entering a Company Voluntary Agreement giving it more time to pay off its creditors.

It had been forced into the compromise deal after being hit by a winding-up petition filed by HMRC over unpaid taxes amounting to £42,000.

Mr Cunningham declined to give the Star details of the scale of the club’s current debts but added: “We are fully aware of what needs to be done to resolve this issue. I can understand why people are concerned at this development given the recent history but there really is nothing to worry about.”

Dog shelter facing cash crisis

AN animal sanctuary looking after stray, mistreated and abandoned dogs from the Harlow area has made an urgent plea for donations after struggling to pay vets bill of more than £20,000.

Mutts In Distress takes in dogs that would otherwise be destroyed, funds any necessary veterinary treatment to nurse them back to health and then aims to get them re-homed Pat Clarke, who opened the shelter at Little Hallingbury 23 years ago, said the situation was desperate.

“We unexpectedly had three pregnant Chihuahuas and a Staffy come in this month which has cost us over £6,000 in bills and then we re-homed a dog which three weeks later was returned to us paralysed, costing another £9,000,” she said. “We are in desperate need of funding otherwise for the first time in 23 years we will be in a position where we have to refuse animals. More likely than not this would result in the animal being put down.

“Ideally we need donations or some more volunteers to help with fundraising. Even if they can only spare a couple of hours a week going out with collection boxes it would be a big help.”

Donations for the shelter can be made via the Paypal link on the group’s website at www.mutts-in-distress.org.uk. To offer voluntary assistance, contact the sanctuary on (01279) 656633.

Old Stow photo is a joy for Joyce

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

WHEN Nostalgia featured a photo of Iraqi government officials visiting The Stow in the early 1950s, it brought back memories for one of Harlow's first residents.

"I can't tell you how pleased I was to read about the Iraqi visitors in Harlow," wrote 88-year-old Joyce Lee, who moved to Harlow with her Danish husband Erik Kjolsen, a television engineer, in the early years of the new town.

"At this time I lived in Orchard Croft and worked in Stitchers, the grocery store mentioned in the article.

"It was so lovely here then. I used to love walking to Old Harlow and The Stow was a really busy place. I used to do all my shopping there; you could buy anything you needed."

Mrs Lee, who has four children and is now a grandmother to seven and great-grandmother to five, says she still remembers much of her life spent in the town.

"I have worked in many places in Harlow and have many fond memories," she said. "There was another grocer called Taylor's which was later renamed Moore's. It was located where the Co-op pharmacy is now. I worked at the doctors surgery at Nuffield House at one point as well as Johnson Matthey and at the Playhouse for a while, putting programmes into envelopes.

"I remember once meeting Danny La Rue

Did you meet Iraqi visitors?

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

WHEN you in town the day two Iraqi Government officials came to visit back in the early 1950s?

Alan Gifford, who sent in this marvellous photo taken at The Stow in 1954, told Nostalgia the pair – Mr Sayid Hussein Nuriq and Mr Sayid Hassan Tahbari – were part of a four-man Iraqi delegation visiting the UK.

The picture was featured in the Harlow Gazette when the two men came to the town to learn more about the workings of local government.

"My wife Jan is the little girl in the photo with the wicker basket in front of the butcher's shop to the left when he was performing there. He asked me what it was I was doing and I said: 'It's called stuffing'. Well you can imagine the response I got to that – it was quite rude!" Mrs Lee says one of her fondest memories is of the Norwegian band from Stavanger which would visit the town every year.

"I remember it like it was yesterday," she said. "Our family used to see a lot of the band and the conductor as the language is the same as Danish.

"I have always liked Harlow; it is and always will be my home."

DO YOU REMEMBER: Songs of Praise in Harlow

CAN you shed some more light on the time Songs of Praise came to Harlow in 1987?

This picture of the late Sir Harry Secombe CBE landed on the Nostalgia desk a couple of weeks ago. A letter of explanation accompanying the photo reported that it was taken when the popular entertainer presented the long-running show from 'Latton Church'.

Letter author R. Liles wrote: "In 1987 Songs of Praise came to Harlow with Sir Harry Secombe singing at Latton Church. I got the picture of him there by the church."

So this week we are asking readers to think back and let us know of any details they remember from the special visit. Did you attend the service at St Mary at Latton Church that day? Did anyone get to meet Sir Harry?

Send your memories to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

➡ Harlow shoppers were busy fishing for 10p coins this week as the new paid-for trolley scheme began on Monday morning. To use a trolley you now have to push 10p into a slot to release it, retrieving the coin upon the trolley's return. Sainsbury's reported an excellent response to the new system, with all trolleys returned.

➡ Jeffrey Archer, the former Conservative Party deputy chairman, has cancelled his date with local Conservatives on Saturday. He was due to speak at their annual dinner. His replacement will be MP John Powley, a former contender for the Harlow seat.

➡ A hoax caller has been frightening Harlow residents by threatening members of their family on the telephone. The calls have been going on for three weeks now and police have made an urgent appeal for more information, fearing an elderly person could be a victim before long.

➡ Bone marrow donors had to be turned away from a volunteer session on Thursday because there were too many. Dozens of people turned up at Princess Alexandra Hospital as part of a Harlow Round Table initiative to provide 160 donors to help people suffering leukaemia and other related diseases.

The piano-playing robot with 19 fingers

A WACKY scientist has unveiled his latest creation – a 19-fingered robot which can play piano faster than any human.

Named Teotronico, the musical machine is claimed to be the only robot in the world capable of singing and playing the piano at the same time – and can even tell if an audience is impressed. Teotronico is the brainchild of Italian tech whiz Matteo Suzzi and took four years to build at a cost of almost £3,000. He first wowed audiences earlier this month at the Mondo Music Piano Fayre.

The designer claims that his robot's artificial intelligence is so advanced that it can even recognise sudden key changes and alterations in tones, while his 19 'fingers' enable him to cover any melody or song with ease.

"He is a great pianist because he has almost double the number of fingers that a human has and he can provide greater pressure to the keys," Matteo told reporters.

"He's performed at a number of private parties and is a hit with the guests. We're hoping he can revolutionise the music industry."

When hooked up to a computer, Teotronico is able to play tunes from a huge range of genres, including classical, jazz, blues and rock. He can even 'sing' songs recorded on a huge database in his memory chips.

As he plays, special cameras in his eyes also allow him to view and interact with his audience. If he detects that they are not enjoying themselves the clever robot will change his choice of song to something more suitable!

Information from Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice

Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice provides specialist advice and tribunal and court representation on matters involving benefits, housing, employment and debt. Information on a range of other subjects is also available. Appointments can be made to see specialist advisers and solicitors. Contact the service on (01279) 446622 or by calling in at the Advice Centre, 2 East Gate, The High, between 10am and 1.30pm on weekdays. Out-of-hours appointments and home visits are available if necessary.

When written terms in a job contract can be disregarded

WHEN two Harlow residents who worked as cleaners were suddenly dismissed without notice, they sought advice from the employment advisers at Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice.

When the adviser looked at their case, what initially looked like a straightforward incident of unfair dismissal and failure to give proper notice became more complicated. The contracts said that the cleaners were self-employed.

Most employment rights – including the right to redundancy pay, statutory notice and to claim unfair dismissal – are only available to employees. It is, therefore, important to be able to establish whether or not someone is actually an employee.

In this case there was a written contract stating that the people were engaged on a self-employed basis, the contract said they were responsible for paying their own tax and national insurance, were free to accept or decline work offered and could send other people to undertake the work.

The workers, as is often the case, did not closely examine the wording of the contract. If the work had been carried out in the way that the contract indicated, then they would indeed have been self-employed and not entitled to the protection offered by most employment law.

However, in reality, the workers did not work in this way; they felt obliged to go to work, required to inform the employer if they were unavailable through sickness and were clear that they could not have sent someone else to do the work in their place.

Such cases have often presented problems for workers trying to enforce their rights. In a recent decision by the Supreme Court, it was decided that when the courts look at whether someone is an employee or not, written terms of the contract can be disregarded insofar as they are inconsistent with the reality of the situation.

It brings to mind the old saying 'If it looks like a duck, walks like a duck and quacks like a duck then it probably is a duck'.

On this basis the workers successfully brought claims for unfair dismissal, notice and holiday pay.

Tarbuck to top gala show bill

LEGENDARY comedian Jimmy Tarbuck will be headlining the birthday celebrations at Harlow Playhouse when the theatre marks its 40th anniversary next month.

The theatre will be staging a special anniversary charity gala show featuring acts including resident groups performing arts groups Hip Hop Pop, Razed Roof, Harlow Ballet and Academy Arts.

Tarbuck, who tops the bill, will be joined by international circus aerialist Aurélie Bernard, voice of Strictly Come Dancing Chris Madin, impressionist Andy Fleming and the stars of the hit BBC show The Magicians.

Playhouse manager Scott Ramsay said: "It's going to be a super show full of laughter, music, dance, magic and circus."

"Jimmy Tarbuck has been making audiences laugh for over 40 years and will bring all his experience from hosting many theatre and television performances."

The Harlow Playhouse Anniversary Charity Gala takes place on Sunday, November 6 at 7.30pm.

Tickets cost £20.11 and can be booked by calling the box office (01279) 431945 or on the theatre's website at www.playhouseharlow.com.

● Star readers purchasing a ticket for the show can get a second ticket for half price. To take advantage of this offer, call the box office on (01279) 431945 or pop into the theatre.

Information on disability

PARENTS of young people with disabilities or special needs can find out more about the help and support available to them at an information day next month.

The transition information event organised by Essex County Council will include advice on further education, training opportunities, employment, social care, benefits, housing and support for carers.

There will also be discussion groups taking place throughout the day.

The event takes place on Monday, November 14 from 9.30am to 2.15pm at the Latton Bush Centre in Southern Way. Places are limited and will be allocated on a first-come, first-served basis.

For more information or to reserve a place, call (01245) 706809.

40 years of ballet at The Playhouse

By CHRIS MOSS

HARLOW Ballet Association pirouettes into The Playhouse this weekend with a nostalgia-tinged show celebrating its 40-year partnership with the theatre.

Featuring excerpts from past performances and a preview of the group's forthcoming Easter production of Giselle, the retrospective also marks the culmination of HBA's first-ever autumn dance course.

Lovers of classical ballet will be well catered for, with a performance of the Rose Adage from Sleeping Beauty – widely recognised as one of the most challenging pieces for any budding ballerina – and solos from rarely-seen 19th century ballets The Pharaoh's Daughter and La Bayadere on the bill.

Seven young choreographers will then compete for the Anthony Osborne Choreographic Shield in the popular contest's 25th year, while audiences can also look forward to a revival of artistic director Michael Branwell's charming No More Fairy Stories as well as two dances being specially prepared for the 40th anniversary celebrations.

Michael told the Star: "These two very special performances celebrate the fact that Harlow Ballet Association is the only amateur theatre company to have used The Playhouse ever since it first opened – and still does!

"It is a wonderful co-incidence that this celebratory performance should also feature the 25th competition for the Anthony Osborne Choreographic Shield.

"The HBA has always encouraged new choreography, ever since a young man called Wayne Sleep made his first ballet for the opening performances by the Harlow Ballet in The Playhouse. Sadly that ballet is lost but the tradition of new work is not.

"Add to this a very, very special finale and the whole programme will sparkle with all that is very best in the living tradition of the Harlow Ballet. May it continue for another 40 years!"

The show is being staged in the Playhouse Studio. Performances start at 7.30pm on Saturday and 2.30pm on Sunday.

Tickets cost £12 (£8 children) from (01279) 431945 or can be booked online at www.playhouseharlow.co.uk.

Comedy line-up rivals a night out in London

EXPECT the unexpected as quickfire clown Chris Lynam brings his inimitable brand of madcap mirth and mayhem to the The Square next weekend. The unhinged surrealist, pictured right, returns from his self-inflicted hiatus wandering the rainforests of Zimbabwe to headline another cracking comedy night at the Fourth Avenue venue next Sunday (November 6).

Described by The Independent as "Britain's most dangerous comic", the self-proclaimed 'King of Clowns' has caused quite a stir on the comedy circuit with his jaw-dropping stunts (think fireproof buttocks) and propensity to shower his audience with more than mere words.

He tops a bill that also features veteran stand-up Nick Revell, who began his career at the Comedy Store in 1980 and went on to become one of the UK's most influential comics, writing for hit TV shows Drop The Dead Donkey and Not The Nine O'Clock News.

Completing the line-up will be in-demand observational comic Simon Bligh, a Time Out Comedy Award winner and Perrier Award nominee who juxtaposes cheery conversation with wild, frenetic and fast-moving storytelling.

As always, the show will be compered by John Mann who told the Star it was one of the strongest line-ups he's ever put together.

"This really will be a great night and having Chris Lynam on is a bit of a scoop. Since The Square comedy nights began pretty much every major comic in the country has performed, including Eddie Izzard, Jack Dee, Lee Evans, Russell Brand, Jo Brand, Michael McIntyre and Bill Bailey.

"A night in London to see a line up like this would cost £20 a ticket – and the beer would certainly not be as cheap!"

Doors for the show open at 7.30pm for a 9pm start, and tickets cost £7 (£6 if you present a Harlow Star masthead at the door).

HARLOW PLAYHOUSE, Playhouse Square (01279) 431945

>>>musical Talented youth theatre group Rare Productions spectacular new adaptation of Lionel Bart's hit West End musical Oliver! opens its three-night run tonight (Thursday). Featuring a cast of 85 local youngsters and dazzling song and dance routines, the show promises to be a half-term hit for all the family. The show runs until Saturday, with evening performances starting at 7.30pm and a Saturday matinee at 2.30pm. Tickets cost £12 (£10 concessions).

>>>comedy Hell-raising Scottish comic Jerry Sadowitz will turn the air blue on Sunday with his provocative new touring show. As controversial and downright filthy as ever, the mirthful misanthrope's shock-and-awe tactics have made him a cult hero of the stand-up circuit – and his card tricks aren't too shabby either. Strictly for adults only, the show starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £18 (£16 concessions).

>>>comedy Gulp at the ancient Australian art of genital origami on Wednesday night as worldwide smash hit Puppetry Of The Penis returns to the Playhouse – this time in 3D. After breaking box office records across the globe since its 2006 debut, the show enters a whole new dimension this time around through the use of state-of-the-art 3D projectors. Suitable for 18s and over, the show starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £18 (£16 concessions).

>>>drama Holby City star Rebecca Wheatley takes centre stage in a hilarious new production of Louise Roche's comic drama Big Pants & Botox next Thursday. After surviving an eventful 'significant' birthday, Barbara embarks on a side-splitting, soul-searching journey as she considers how best to retain her youth. The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £14.50 (£12.50 concessions).

>>>music Jazz fans can enjoy a stomping session of authentic Chicago-style Dixieland at the ARC tonight (Thursday). Inspired by the sounds heard in Chicago's gangster-controlled Speakeasy bars during the prohibition days of the roaring 20s, the gig will feature Alan Gresty on trumpet, Brian White on clarinet, and Colin Bray on piano, joined by ace of bass Keith Donald and local drumming legend John Petters. The show starts at 8pm and tickets cost £10.

LIBERTYS, Terminus Street, Harlow 07583 653796 >>>comedy The nightclub hosts the first in a regular series of comedy nights tonight (Thursday). Compered by former Hollyoaks and Casualty star James Redmond, the bill features top stand-ups Christian Steel, Paul McCaffey and Dougie Hastings. Doors open at 9pm and admission is free.

THE GALLERY, Parndon Mill Lane, Harlow (01279) 426042

>>>art The Gallery's acclaimed Glasshaus exhibition returns to Parndon Mill for the sixth year running. Featuring a stunning collection of works of art in glass including sculpture, bowls, dishes, wall pieces and blown glass ornaments, the exhibition runs until October 30 and admission is free.

GATEHOUSE ARTS, West Gate, Harlow 07530 048739

>>>art A fascinating exhibition celebrating the weird and wonderful world of collectors and collections continues at the town centre gallery until Saturday. Curated by resident artists Noriko Matsubara and Amanda Westbury, Museum Of Curiosities features objects from the Museum of Harlow and local residents, including bottle tops, bicycle lamps, cards, casino chips and even false teeth! Admission is free.

>>>art Sharpen your pencil and get creative as the gallery invites residents to draw their very own masterpieces as part of a nationwide Big Draw event on Sunday. The event runs from noon-4pm and participation is free.

Digital makeover brings Tintin into 21st century

THE ADVENTURES OF TINTIN: THE SECRET OF THE UNICORN (3D) certificate PG, 1h46m

WRITTEN and drawn by Belgian artist Georges Remi under the pen name Herge, Tintin first sprang to life on the page in 1929 in the gung-ho adventure Tintin In The Land Of The Soviets.

Now, thanks to the Oscar-winning pair of Steven Spielberg and Peter Jackson, the iconic character enters the 21st century using state-of-the-art motion capture which translates actors' movements into the performances of incredibly detailed digital characters.

The Adventures Of Tintin: The Secret

Of The Unicorn is the opening salvo of a proposed trilogy, amalgamating the plots of The Crab With The Golden Claws, The Secret Of The Unicorn and Red Rackham's Treasure.

The first film is a breathlessly entertaining romp, littered with eye-popping action set pieces that would simply be unthinkable – not to mention astronomically expensive – as live action.

A terrific animated opening reminiscent of Catch Me If You Can introduces us to reporter Tintin (Jamie Bell), who buys a model ship and is plunged into a centuries-old mystery involving Ivan Ivanovitch Sakharine (Daniel Craig).

Ivan asks Tintin to name his price for the boat but the reporter refuses to sell, sensing the wooden vessel is far more valuable than it first appears.

Sure enough, a cryptic conundrum lies within, revealing that "only a true Haddock will discover the secret of The Unicorn".

Assisted by trusty pooch Snowy, Tintin searches for more clues, meeting booze-sodden Captain Haddock (Andy Serkis) whose family history holds the key to the mystery of a cursed shipwreck.

The Adventures Of Tintin: The Secret Of The Unicorn is a hoot and the script co-written by Peter Moffat, Edgar Wright and Joe Cornish delivers some big laughs such as when Captain Haddock reveals that one of his crew has no eyelids.

However, all of Spielberg's directorial brio and the gorgeous visuals cannot distract from the lack of characterisation. The film relies entirely on nostalgia, providing no back story about Tintin or any of his friends and foes other than what is pertinent to the mystery of The Unicorn.

Like most thrill rides, we're giddy during the film, caught up in the action and derring-do but once the film ends there's that nagging feeling that something is amiss: heart and soul.

Perhaps Tintin will unearth both in the second film, pencilled for release in 2013 with Jackson at the helm.

also new this week

MIDNIGHT IN PARIS certificate 12A, 1h34m

FOLLOWING his European jaunts around England and Spain, writer-director Woody Allen says bonjour to Paris for his new romantic comedy.

Disillusioned Hollywood screenwriter Gil (Owen Wilson) is contemplating giving up his life behind the cameras to fulfil his literary aspirations and pen his first novel after jetting out to the French capital on holiday with beautiful fiancée Inez (Rachel McAdams) and her conservative parents (Kurt Fuller, Mimi Kennedy).

But he faces doubt from his other half as well as his in-laws-to-be, who disapprove of his decision and dismiss his dreams as frivolous.

The couple have a random encounter with Inez's former crush Paul (Michael Sheen), an obnoxious intellectual who pretends to be a know-it-all, and his wife Carol (Nina Arianda).

One night, when Paul offers to take Inez dancing, Gil takes the opportunity to escape and winds up down a side street after taking a wrong turn. When midnight strikes he gladly accepts a lift in a car full of drunken Frenchmen, only to discover it has magically transported him back to the 1920s.

There he hobnobs with the cultural icons of the era including F Scott Fitzgerald (Tom Hiddleston) and his wife and muse Zelda (Alison Pill), has a drink with Ernest Hemingway (Corey Stoll), and discusses philosophy with Salvador Dalí (Adrien Brody).

He even hands over his novel to Gertrude Stein (Kathy Bates) and meets Cole Porter (Yves Heck).

Swept up by the nostalgia and romanticism of yesteryear, Gil returns for his fix night after night, and romances Picasso's latest muse Adriana (Mario Cotillard), intent that Inez is having an affair with Paul.

Opening with an extended montage of Parisian sights in the rain against a jazz background, Allen's latest offering is full of nostalgia and while it lacks the satisfaction of previous films Vicky Cristina Barcelona and Manhattan, it's Allen at his sentimental best.

Contagion Two days after Beth Emhoff (Gwyneth Paltrow) returns from a business trip in Hong Kong she's dead – and the medics can't tell her husband Thomas (Matt Damon) how or why. But before long the virus that killed her is out of control and as panic spreads, scientists battle to control the global pandemic.

Paranormal Activity 3 The demonic origin of the paranormal activity is revealed in the third instalment of the phenomenally popular horror franchise.

Monte Carlo Texan teenager Grace (Selena Gomez) is off to Paris with her best friend Emma (Katie Cassidy). But mum Pam (Andie McDowell) insists on sending Grace's grumpy stepsister Meg (Leighton Meester) to act as their chaperone. After a miserable start in Europe's most romantic city, their luck changes when Grace is mistaken for spoiled, multi-millionaire English heiress Cordelia Winthrop Scott. Quick as a flash, all three girls find themselves whisked off to Monte Carlo to live the high life.

Real Steel In the year 2020 boxing as we know it is over. Men have been replaced by giant steel robots who take part in corporate, big-money fights. But away from the expensive arenas and lucrative sponsorship deals, there's a thriving underground scene. It's here that Charlie Kenton (Hugh Jackman), a washed-up former boxer, ekes out a living bolting together bits and bobs of scrap metal to create low-end fighting 'bots. But when even this precarious existence is threatened, Charlie reluctantly teams up with his estranged son Max (Dakota Goyo) in the hope of building and training a championship contender.

Dolphin Tale When a young dolphin gets caught in a crab trap, introverted 11-year-old Sawyer Nelson (Nathan Gamble) rescues her. But the dolphin has severely damaged her tail. Taken to the Clearwater Marine Hospital run by Dr Clay Haskett (Harry Connick Jr), the prognosis is bleak. But Sawyer is not prepared to give up on his new friend so easily.

Jonny English Reborn Rowan Atkinson's unlikely super-spy returns to cause more hilarious chaos in the world of espionage.

The Lion King (3D) Disney's Oscar-winning animated classic is still the most successful traditionally animated film in history. And now it's released in 3D!

The Smurfs When the evil wizard Gargamel chases the tiny blue Smurfs out of their village, they tumble from their magical world and end up in ours.

>>previews

In Time In the future, people stop ageing at 25 and must work to buy themselves more time. But when a young man finds himself with more time than he can imagine, he must run from a corrupt police force to save his life.

Tower Heist When a group of hard working men find out they've fallen victim to a wealthy businessman's scam, they conspire to rob his high-rise residence.

>>special screening

The Rocky Horror Picture Show (Hallowe'en only) A newly engaged couple find themselves stuck in an isolated area after their car breaks down and they seek help at the bizarre home of Dr Frank-N-Furter.

>>movies for juniors

Alpha & Omega Two young wolves at opposite ends of their pack's social order are thrown together into a foreign land and need each other to return home. But love complicates everything.

Rio When Blu, a domesticated macaw from small-town Minnesota, meets the fiercely independent Jewel, he takes off on an adventure to Rio de Janeiro with this bird of his dreams.

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
The Sun moves into passionate Scorpio, a sign that like yours, is ruled by the feisty Mars. By midweek it and other influences are priming your prospects beautifully. Just don't be surprised if you make some snap decisions. This is not unknown for you, but it's what you decide upon, which may even startle you yourself. Call now for your in-depth forecast...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
A new dawn for all sorts of relationships begins, but this also gives you a fresh opportunity to appraise what you want from your closest ties, and also what other people want from you. If you are a competitive or sporty Bull, you have a great chance to up your game. In fact, you can find yourself enjoying challenges of all kinds. Call me for your love scope...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
Mercury and Venus bring about some really good possibilities and now you can find to get a job you want, but yourself turning your attentions to those who please in what you do. Why not enjoy it, after all we spend enough time voluntary work or grafting away. This can also be a time when a love interest goes from flirty to something firmer and more enduring. Getting fit can be fun too. Call for your love scope in full...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
If you have children you can really enjoy a toddler's personal development. If you have older kids their achievements around the arts, drama or sports can see you glow. The Sun also goes face to face with Jupiter. This can have a really helpful impact on your mindset. Obstacles can be overcome, and a 'can-do' approach will take you far. Call me for more...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
If you have any home improvement scheme in motion, you won't want to settle for second best when it comes to your choices. Yet you'll also be attuned to making practical changes as much as upping the comfort level. A hobby which allows you to be creative can give you great satisfaction. It may feature word skills. Call for more news and astral advice...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
You can find yourself developing ideas which will help you move on from your existing setting or job. You may consider further education - a correspondence course, or extra travel. You can have more interaction with siblings or people in your locality. You may host a party plan night, or a meeting about local activities. Call for more astral advice...

Two-bedroom apartment close to the town centre

coverproperty

Location Netteswell Orchard, Harlow
Category Two-bed split level apartment
Additional Balcony with room for table and chairs, allocated parking space, close to town centre
Guide price £142,950
Agent Genesis Property Services, 3 High Street, Old Harlow. Telephone: (01279) 422422

THIS week's cover property is a two-bedroom split level apartment in Netteswell Orchard, Harlow – close to the town centre and train station. The front door opens up into the entrance hall which has laminate flooring and a staircase rising to the first floor. Leading off the hall is the lounge, a spacious room with laminate flooring and a large sliding patio door which leads out onto a balcony. This is a good size and has space for a table and chairs.

The kitchen has a good selection of wall and base units and working surfaces. There is a single drainer sink unit with cupboard beneath and plumbing for a washing machine.

Upstairs are the two bedrooms and a family bathroom. Bedroom one is a good size room with two Velux windows overlooking the front of the house and double wardrobes.

The second bedroom also has two Velux windows to the rear and a built-in double wardrobe and a large airing cupboard.

The bathroom features a whirlpool bath and electric shower with a window to the rear and fully tiled walls. Outside there is an allocated car parking space by the property.

This apartment is on the market chain-free and the agent holds the keys for viewings. To arrange an appointment or for further information, call Genesis Property Services on (01279) 422422.

Buy this for £164,995

LOCATED on the outskirts of Harlow at Sycamore Field in the Summers area, this terraced house is on the market chain-free.

It has three bedrooms and a downstairs cloakroom as well as gas central heating and double glazing.

The bright and modern kitchen and bathroom are superb.

The back garden is mainly laid to lawn and enclosed by panel fencing with a patio area. There is also pedestrian rear access.

Contact Haart of Harlow on (01279) 443311 for details or to arrange a viewing appointment.

Priced at £279,995

THIS superb semi-detached property at Bullfields in Sawbridgeworth is within walking distance to the village centre and local shops, nearby primary and secondary schools and the train station.

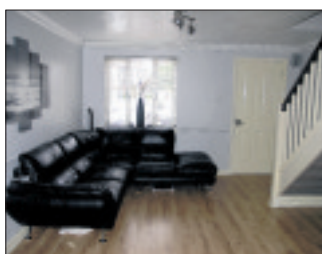

It has three bedrooms, a modern kitchen and good size lounge.

The back garden has been landscaped and includes a block paved patio area.

To the front is a gated entrance opening on to the driveway, with parking for up to three vehicles.

For further details, contact Mackay Property Agents on (01279) 600567.

On the market for £189,995

THIS mid-terrace property in Ridgeways, Church Langley, has been decorated very well, giving it a stylish contemporary look.

With two good sized bedrooms, a family bathroom, chic kitchen and living room, this is a great home in a very popular location.

Outside there is a neat back garden with decking area. There is also a wooden gate for rear access and driveway parking for two cars.

Apple Tree Homes can arrange a viewing appointment for you on (01279) 635975.

Stamp duty exempt at £243,000

THIS semi-detached property at The Hill in Old Harlow is an ideal first time purchase because of its stamp duty exemption.

With three bedrooms, a kitchen/breakfast room and lounge/diner, the house is very well decorated throughout with many contemporary features.

There is a courtyard garden at the back of the property.

The Hill is a popular location, close to the train station and local shops.

Mulberry Green Estates have full details on (01279) 429423.

GEOFFREY MATTHEW

HARLOW

Deciding On Price (Part One)

Whatever anyone might say about location, condition, proximity to schools, size, etc., it is the price at which a property is initially marketed that is the key to a successful sale.

But emotions often cloud good judgement. The chance to secure a high price can prompt sellers to quote too much, and the house then misses the early buyer activity that is most likely to produce a sale. Quote too little and the resulting immediate sale can fuel resentment as you might feel you could have sold for more.

So the heart must not rule the head here. You may have put a lot of time, love and money into the property and naturally you want your asking price to reflect this. Maybe you need a certain amount to secure another property, or you simply want to track national house-price trends. Perhaps you are taking your guide from a similar property that has recently sold nearby.

However, the only thing that really counts is the supply of able buyers in relation to the supply of comparable properties, and what those buyers are prepared to pay in view of such competition. Local estate agents are the only people who have a handle on both. Armed with this information your agent can make an informed recommendation as to an asking price that will maximise your chances of selling at an attractive figure within a realistic timescale. (See part two next week)

If you are considering selling your property and would like a carefully considered and qualified view of the likely sale price of your property in the current market, then please feel free to contact us on 01279 444988.

Peugeot are powering ahead

By Matt Kimberley

Peugeot's 3008 has stolen a march on the competition by being fitted with the first diesel-electric hybrid powertrain to hit showrooms in Europe, marrying the twin benefits of short-term electric-only power with diesel torque and efficiency.

The system works in roughly the same way as the long-established Toyota version seen in several of its models, like the Lexus RX450h and Toyota Prius. The 3008 Hybrid4, or HY4 for short, has a complete and fully-integrated hybrid system that never needs plugging in, and has no issues with potential range.

Where this system differs from the existing "full hybrid" systems is that the electric motor is much smaller – it puts out just 27 kilowatts compared to the Prius' 60-kilowatt system, and the motor drives the rear wheels leaving the fronts to the engine.

Peugeot wanted to give the 3008 maximum efficiency and a smaller motor means less friction, which in turn means lower CO2 and big tax benefits across Europe. The base model puts out 99g/km of CO2, making it road tax and congestion charge exempt in Britain.

The mid-range and limited edition range-topping version both emit 104g/km, which puts

FACT file

Peugeot 3008 Hybrid4

£26,995
on the road

Engine: 2.0 litre 163bhp diesel engine with 37bhp electric motor creating a total of 200 bhp

Transmission: Electronically-operated gearbox attached to the engine and driving front wheels; electric motor driving rear wheels

Performance: Top speed 118mph / 0-62mph in 8.5 secs

Economy: 74.4mpg

CO₂ Rating: 99g/km

them in the lowest chargeable road tax band in this country.

The system works in roughly the same way as the long-established Toyota version seen in several of its models like the Lexus RX450h and Toyota!

Fuel economy is equally impressive. On the combined cycle the mid-range model officially returns 70.6mpg (slightly less than the base model), but it's in town where it really shines. During the launch in the northern French town of Dinard I had a chance to drive it on a low-speed urban route around short, narrow streets and it returned 71mpg in all the default driving settings. Astonishing, really.

Cars like this have been tuned to be driven a certain way. In a way the 3008 HY4 is just like the road racer Porsche 911 GT3 RS – designed more or less for one thing only, but supremely good at it.

The 3008 just needs constant gentle use of the controls to excel.

One of the key benefits that the HY4 system offers is the ability to choose one of four driving modes, making it more versatile than you'd expect. The ZEV – Zero Emissions Vehicle – mode biases the car towards using the electric motor, which is great for in-town driving but not so good for inclines. The small motor struggles to pull the car's mass uphill, but on the up-side the motors help recharge the battery on downhill stretches.

Sport mode biases the system the other way, using the diesel engine almost all the time and giving the full 200bhp, 332lb.ft thrust. In this mode the 3008 HY4 is actually pretty good to drive, and although it shows quite a lot of body roll, it suits the character of the car and allows it to ride very well.

It's a surprisingly comfortable car all round.

The other two modes are 4x4 and Auto. While 4x4 hardly turns the 3008 into a Land Rover Defender, it does give valuable extra traction in sticky situations, like if you need to drive the car uphill out of soft, wet sand.

That exact situation was set up on the launch and the system worked, albeit less impressively than that of a "proper" 4x4.

Auto is the default setting and it takes care of almost everything.

It's a low power mode designed to give maximum fuel economy, and reflects how most people will drive. It does need a consciously light right foot to help it do its best work, but 71mpg in town – or more – is the kind of reward owners can expect if they tow the eco-driving line.

The only thing Auto doesn't do is switch automatically to Sport mode.

Even pushing the accelerator into the carpet doesn't, which means you have to select Sport manually if you want to overtake quickly.

It's a bit clumsy, but it's a relatively small area of compromise.

One question on potential buyers' lips might be whether the system is refined or not. It is, and very much so as long as you work the pedals gently. The engine and motor cut in and out with no clues whatsoever beyond the helpful active diagram on the central screen.

Get more insistent with the accelerator and the system becomes a little jerkier as it does its thing.

All in all, the 3008 HY4 is an excellent car, and good value compared to its diesel-only counterparts. It offers more performance, more prestige and much better fuel economy, especially in urban environments. It's a very convincing package that deserves to do well.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF). Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Swimming Programmes Co-ordinator (Qualitative & Developmental) 20 Hours per week

An individual is required to work within the Sports Complex in this progressive independent boarding school. This is a job share role, working in conjunction with the Swimming Programmes Co-ordinator (Administrative and Organisational), with both post holders working a core of 20 hours per week. Under the direction of the Sports Complex Management team, the job holder will be responsible for the planning and development of successful swimming based programmes at the Sports Complex. In addition, due to the developmental nature of the role, the job holder will be required to: manage a range of key personnel linked to swimming activities; oversee; co-ordinate and quality assure all swimming based programmes at the Sports Complex; monitor and evaluate the performance of all swimming programmes and personnel. The successful applicant will have an RLSS National Pool Lifeguard Qualification, an ASA or equivalent Level 2 Qualification and First Aid at Work Training. An ASA Tutor Training qualification would be desirable.

For an application pack visit www.haileybury.com/community/vacancies or, alternatively, contact Miss Sarah Hopkins (Human Resources Assistant/Officer) on 01992 706224.

For an informal chat, please contact Mr Mark Jarvis (Sports Complex Manager) on 01992 706350.

Closing Date: Monday 14th November 2011

Haileybury is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and expects all staff to share this commitment. Applicants for the above post must be willing to undergo child protection screening, including reference checks with previous employers and a criminal record check via the Criminal Records Bureau.

Harlow's unbeaten record comes to end

Havering II 4, Harlow Tn 2

East Men's Hockey League, division four south east

THE undefeated record of Harlow was ended when they lost at table-topping Havering II. Harlow started badly on Saturday and went behind after eight minutes.

The visitors' defence had been under huge pressure and they failed to stop a good pass finding a home forward and he finished.

Shortly after, Harlow equalised. Ali Castle's exquisite pass found centre forward Andy Boughtwood, who took the ball on half the length of the pitch before he fired in.

Havering regained the lead just after the halfway mark in the first half.

A well-executed penalty corner saw the ball ricochet off keeper Shaun Hastler's pads and into the goal.

The hosts increased their advantage on the stroke of half-time.

A Havering free hit was played straight into the visitors' D and the Harlow players all left the ball as the home side's left-back nipped in and finished.

Motivated by the stern half-time words of their captain Luke Krzoska, Harlow improved after the break.

The midfield trio of Joe Symonds, Ben Light and James Smith started getting on the ball and created a few chances for the forwards.

Harlow reduced the deficit to one goal after 50 minutes. Substitute Adam Ottley combined with Craig Cholerton and when the latter's shot was saved by the Havering goalkeeper, Smith shot into an empty goal.

But Havering added a fourth on 58 minutes. The hosts were allowed too much time on the ball around the D and a hit into the area was deflected past a helpless Hastler.

Smith's shot hit a home post from the top of the D late on, but Havering preserved their 4-2 lead to the end.

Harlow are sixth in the 12-team table. HARLOW: Hastler, Castle, Plumridge, Grace, Krzoska, Symonds, Light, Smith, Munro, Cholerton, Boughtwood. Sub: Ottley.

Missing keeper can't halt Ladies' good run

Upminster II 0, Harlow Ladies 3

Essex Women's Hockey League, premier division

A SOLID win was registered by Harlow Ladies at Upminster II despite the visitors being without their regular keeper Linda Rowley at the start.

Bethan Spencer filled Rowley's berth without keeper pads after the latter was held up in traffic.

Harlow exerted early pressure on Saturday while the visitors' defence of Julie Castle and Anita Shearman thwarted efforts from the Upminster right wing until Rowley turned up.

The visitors went ahead on 15 minutes.

Captain Carolyn Welsford's shot on goal from a penalty corner was initially saved, only for Georgina Esterhuysen to bundle in the rebound at the near post.

Either side of the break, Harlow came close to scoring through Jess Ashford before Rowley saved well for the visitors.

Harlow went 2-0 up on 56 minutes.

Slick passing between Welsford and Sonya Amos preceded the former's low shot into the bottom left corner.

The final goal came on the hour mark.

The umpires, playing advantage when Amos was fouled on the left wing, allowed her quick pass to release Byers.

She dribbled past two defenders and pulled the home side out of position and her square pass found Welsford who rifled in her second.

Harlow are third in the table.

HARLOW: Rowley, Shearman, Castle, Donaghey, Douglas, Spencer, Welsford, Esterhuysen, Byers, Amos, Ashford.

ESSEX SENIOR CUP, third

round: Harlow Tn v

Heybridge Swifts.

ON THE CHARGE: Joe Taffe-Atkins tries to get past a Scorpions opponent on Friday (HSP0779025)

Scorpions are stung by Hawks

THERE was little to choose between the teams but Harlow Hawks did enough to beat Stevenage Scorpions at home in division one of the Herts Basketball League.

Hawks started well in Friday's clash at the leisurezone.

Their ball movement was good and they were leading before Stevenage found their rhythm in attack.

The visitors wiped out Hawks' five-point lead and they went into the second quarter leading 16-14.

Harlow then responded and their intensity helped to put them firmly back in control.

Every player contributed on the offensive end and they played as a unit in defence.

Their efforts were rewarded as they had opened up a nine-point lead (33-24) by the half-time break.

The third quarter saw both teams trade baskets, scoring 18 points.

The Hawks offence struggled but still added 10 points, hitting shots from both inside and out.

The final quarter saw the Hawks really step up their defence and they held the visitors scoreless for the first four minutes.

Harlow dominated the action but failed to convert on a number of free-throws that really could have put the game to bed.

With four minutes remaining Stevenage threw everything at the Hawks and went on a 10-0 run, making the hosts a little edgy.

However, Hawks player-coach Shab Niaz hit a big three-pointer and Nick Moss sunk two free throws in the last minute to guide Harlow to an 11-point win.

HARLOW HAWKS: S. Niaz (11pts), Taffe-Atkins (10), Moss (9), S. Atkinson (9), L. Atkinson (7), Z. Niaz (6pts), Jackson (5), Oyerinde (4), Spashett (3), Morris (3), Burgess.

● HARLOW Hawks' scheduled game against Cambridge Cats in the Herts League on Sunday was postponed because there were no officials.

Trampoline kids bounce to victory

After a tense disrupted round due to flash photography, Alex Searle was first in the over 15 years (O-15) male regional F competition and qualified to regional E standard.

Sam Armstrong, in the over-15 male regional G competition, shone to come third, qualifying for regional F level.

Meanwhile, Nathan Holmes was third in the U-13 male regional F competition.

Ross Hutchings in the U-15 male regional G competition narrowly missed first place by just 0.1 points in his first ever competition.

He also qualified to the regional F standard.

Ryan Scott, Apex's youngest competitor, scored a personal best in the U-13 male regional G category and also missed first place by just 0.1 points.

Perri Merrick-Smith was placed 5th in the U-15 female regional E section.

Mistral Tredgett, in the over-15 female regional E event, surprised everyone with an unexpected qualifying score moving her forward into the regional D standard.

Club spokesman Fiona Tredgett said: "We couldn't have asked for better from all of our competitors and are very proud of them."

First home game for club

NEWLY-launched Harlow Volleyball Club men's first team will play its first ever home match in the Essex Volleyball League this Sunday.

The division two match against Brentwood Whackers is at Passmores School in Traces Road and starts at 2pm.

There are eight teams in the division.

A ladies volleyball tournament will take place at the Passmores Academy at the same venue in Harlow on December 4.

It is being organised by Harlow Volleyball Club and will run from 1pm to 6pm.

The club also aims to expand the game in primary and secondary schools in Harlow.

The new head coach and secretary of Harlow Volleyball Club, Iliia Kalanov, said: "I'm developing volleyball at school level, mainly in secondary schools.

"I will be coaching at primary schools as well. My aim is to have regular school competitions in Harlow."

He added: "I organised two outdoor tournaments in Harlow this summer and there was interest from people.

"Next summer I am planning to have something bigger and more interesting."

Euro star!

ANDY Kinney just finished in the top half of the field when he completed Slovenia's Ljubljana Half Marathon in one hour, 51 mins and 57 secs.

The Harlow Running Club member came 2,987th from 6,000 runners.

Anglers scoop prestigious cup

angling

HISTORY was made when the Stort Valley Angling Society (SVAS) won the London Anglers Association (LAA) Challenge Shield for the first time ever.

The six-man team from the Harlow club consisted of Steve Beehan, Bill Beehan, Danny Cruse, Gary Cruse, Steve Turnbull and Ray Hickman.

They produced a supreme effort to win the prestigious trophy.

They fished different venues around Herts and London and were up against some of the capital's finest anglers.

Meanwhile, 22 Stort anglers travelled to a popular venue at Roswell Pits near Ely in Cambridgeshire, for a competition.

Bright, sunny conditions did not help most anglers, but brothers Danny and Gary Cruse took top spot and runner-up respectively, with fine weights of 30lbs 5ozs and 17lbs 13ozs.

Kevin Shaw was third with 13lbs 9ozs. Ryan Head was top junior (11b 4oz).

A total weight of 106lbs 15ozs was banked by club members.

WHITE Admiral took seven out of eight points off Moot House Raiders with the help of 180s from Dave Galloway, Luke Arber and John Cashman in the Harlow & District Premier Darts League.

Leaders ServoLink won 6-2 at Colt Hatch with a second 180 of the season from Damian Green.

The Crusader notched their second win, a 5-3 against Tye Green Foxes.

Stow Snooker registered their second win of the season, triumphing 6-2 at Golden Swift.

Other results:- Moot House 2, Sawbridgeworth Brewery 6; Tye Green Whites 4, Staple Tye Colts 4.

Nine goals for James in 'biggest win ever'

ANTHONY James bagged NINE goals as Alemite Athletic's first team recorded what is believed to be their biggest ever win.

The Harlow-based side won 14-1 at Westwell in the first round of the Centenary Trophy of the Hertford & District ORC Sports League on Saturday.

Ex-Takeley striker James (21) scored a first-half hat-trick. He then scored six more after the break. Other scorers were Ricky Cook (2), Danny McAteer (pen), Danny Coombs and Tony Fry.

Alemite boss Peter Lucia said: "Anthony was not enjoying it at Takeley and he came back to us. He is a goal sniffer. He has scored nine goals for us before when we were in the Bishop's Stortford League.

"I remember our reserves coring 15 around seven or eight years ago."

Alemite Ath res won 3-1 at Wodson Park Ath in division one.

Watters hits out after Robins axe

By DAVID RIMMER
david.rimmer@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW-based stalwart football club manager Don Watters was left fuming after he was ousted as manager at Takeley.

The veteran boss, of Fir Park, has been replaced by former St Albans City manager and former Leyton Orient player Steve Castle – who quit after just a week when he was previously Takeley supremo!

Watters was offered a general manager's role at the Essex Senior League club and turned this down.

The former Sawbridgeworth Town and Stansted boss had taken over at Station Road in 2007, taking the club up to the Essex Senior League from the Essex Intermediate League.

Most of his players were from Harlow and many had been picked up from Harlow & District League clubs.

Watters fumed: "Steve Castle left the club [to become assistant manager at Cambridge United] in a state and then I came in [in 2007]. I would not have the respect for working for him. How do I know he would not do it again?"

Watters indicated that he had been persuaded to do one more season and that club chairman Pat Curran offered him the sideways move, claiming that the

AXED: Don Watters

(HSP075988)

60-year-old was getting too stressed out.

"I could have understood it a month ago, but we have gone on a winning run," Watters said.

His side had climbed to fourth after bouncing back from a terrible start to the campaign.

"I think I have got a raw deal. I thought I had good friends there and obviously I do not."

Watters enjoyed success in his time at Station Road, which encompassed five seasons.

His side gained Essex Senior League status in 2008 and in their first season (2008-09) they finished third.

Watters now wants a job in the Ryman League, but refused to name the club he has been linked with.

He managed Harlow-based Gary Hart as boss at Stansted FC, helping the striker secure a move to Brighton & Hove Albion in 1998.

Curran said the change was by mutual consent.

He said: "We have had some great results in the last four or five weeks. We decided on this course of action a couple of months ago."

"We feel that we would like a different type of direction. We feel that if we want to build for next season we want to take the decision now rather than at the end of the season."

Speaking about the qualities of Castle, who lives in Bishop's Stortford, Curran said: "He will be bringing some more professionalism. Hopefully he will be bringing something new. He will take the training himself. He has done a lot in football."

Curran defended Castle after his first brief tenure as Takeley manager. "He was only with us for a week. He got a job at Cambridge. People move on in football. We always kept in touch."

Curran added: "Don took us into the Essex Senior League and has done a lot for the club. He will always be welcome here."

Initiative to spark new recruits for hockey

hockey

WOMEN can have the chance to take up hockey at sessions that are set to be run in Harlow and Sawbridgeworth.

It is part of a new national programme called 'Back To Hockey' and is aimed at attracting more than 15,000 women back to the sport over the next three years.

The campaign is backed by the England Hockey Board (EHB), the sport's official National Governing Body.

Sessions are being held at the plush new artificial pitches at Leventhorpe School in Sawbridgeworth, as well as at Paringdon Sports Club in Paringdon Road, Harlow.

The informal sessions are being run by Harlow Hockey Club level three Hockey Association qualified coaches.

Harlow coach Bob Gotobed, one of the coaches running the sessions, said: "It's to try and encourage people to play hockey first of all as a physical sport with no pressure and then if they want to do it competitively, to play on Saturdays."

"The thinking [behind the initiative] is to attract women who have had careers and families to take it up again. We will take any women on."

Harlow Hockey Club, which has 32 female members, runs two women's teams.

The first and second team play in the premier division and division four of the Essex Women's Hockey League respectively.

Gotobed said: "We normally have three or four unavailable and can run two women's teams, but if we had enough interest could go to three."

He emphasised the benefits playing hockey can bring.

"Anyone who has played hockey knows the sport provides a great workout – burning calories, improving cardiovascular fitness and toning those all important female targets of thighs and bottom," he said.

Development Director at England Hockey Board, Holly Woodford, said: "Participants will get the chance to not only refresh their skills, but also discover new ones, all through bite sized games."

For more details call Bob Gotobed on 07734 262591 or the Harlow Ladies' second team captain Sarah Donaghey on 07852 171512.

Second triumph for boys at school festival

WILLIAM Martin Junior School were celebrating again after they won the Harlow School Sports Partnership boys football festival for a second successive year.

The team from the Tawneys Road school beat Henry Moore 2-0 and St Albans Catholic Primary School 2-0 in a round-robin final.

Henry Moore had beaten St Albans 1-0 to come second. William Martin will represent the Harlow Schools Sports Partnership (HSSP) in the Essex county finals in Colchester on November 17. They will be among 14 teams taking part.

The three teams from the above named schools won the initial group stages in the Harlow finals day, which was held at Mark Hall Sportcentre.

different schools competed in the seven-a-side tournament on Tuesday last week. Church Langley did extremely well to come fourth after being handicapped when they lost their goalkeeper Reece Still with a suspected broken wrist which necessitated a hospital trip. This transpired to be a badly sprained wrist.

The standard of football was very good and the whole event was delivered in partnership with and supported by Harlow College Football Academy, Mark Hall School, Mark Hall Sportcentre, Mark Hall Youth FC and Passmore Academy.

HSSP Partnership Development Manager George Gardiner said: "It was wonderful to see such a good standard of football being played and well done to William Martin who are deserved champions."

"I hope they can continue their run at the county final." Earlier, all nine teams had won a pre-qualifier to reach last week's finals festival.

Twenty-seven primary school teams competed in the event in total, meaning some 270 boys (mainly from Year 6) have taken part in all.

Young golfer shows Eastern promise

JOHN Withington's growing improvement in golf has seen him start training with the U-18 East of England region training squad.

The 15-year-old Stewards School pupil is among a 10-strong squad and he has already attended a training session at Woodhall Spa GC in Lincolnshire.

Subsequent training weekends once a month will be held at Stoke by Nyland in Colchester over the winter.

Canons Brook Golf Club head professional Mark Smith has coached the gifted member since he was four.

John, who lives in Linford End, Harlow, has a handicap of just 0.8.

Smith said: "He has matured as a young golfer. His whole game is improving. His distance is a lot longer and his putting is improving."

"He has to start getting into national competitions and get noticed to get in the England U-16 squad."

Withington's talent was shown earlier this month when he won a medal competition at the Elizabeth Way club with a six under par round.

Room at top for black managers

By DAVID RIMMER

ENGLAND Women's team manager and newly-appointed London Olympic Games female boss Hope Powell spoke out on the hot topic of black people in football's top roles when she addressed a seminar at Harlow College.

Many in the game are calling for the Rooney Rule to be introduced in England.

This rule in American Football means clubs must interview at least one black candidate when selecting a new manager. While black players have had a huge impact on the playing field over the last 30 years, the numbers have not been so prolific in the senior positions.

Powell addressed students of the game at the Velizy Avenue complex and spoke about the race and gender gap in football.

Speaking to the Star afterwards, Powell disagreed with the introduction of the Rooney Rule in this country.

She explained: "We have had some successful black managers. Paul Ince is a good standard and Chris Hughton has been a fantastic manager. There is Chris Powell and the late Keith Alexander."

"Noel Blake is doing well at England U-19 level."

A hugely respected figure, Powell has been in charge of the England Women's team since 1998.

She does not see it as a race issue. It is a matter of being qualified.

"Let us take the colour issue out of it. If a manager gets sacked after three or four games you cannot fathom it," she said.

"White managers gets sacked [quickly] too."

She added: "It's a matter of getting yourself qualified. If a position comes up you want to be in the best position to put yourself forward.

DISAGREE: Hope Powell and, inset, Matt Waldron (s)

"It's easy to say black or white – you have to be qualified."

Powell would want to be appointed on her own abilities not as part of any positive discrimination.

"I do not want to be a token gesture. I want to be there on merit," she said.

Harlow Town appointed the first black manager in their history when Marvin Samuel took charge in 2009. He is now at neighbouring Hertford Town.

Ex-Hawks player Matt Waldron, now at Sawbridgeworth Town, hopes to move into management.

Waldron, a UEFA B qualified coach is coaching children at the new Norwich City Player Development Centres at Paringdon Sports Club and Passmores School in Harlow. He does not see discrimination as an issue at the top level.

"Paul Ince was not given long enough at Blackburn Rovers, but there are white managers who have not been given enough time," he said.

"It's not a colour issue. It's more a case of chairmen wanting instant success."

Waldron, 30, feels black coaches are coming through but more need to pursue UEFA badges.

"They need to get more qualified and educated about the game," he said.

"There have been more and more black coaches coming through the system over the last three to five years. You need to be qualified to be successful in management."

Trophy run payback for club owners

back into the club. The club's owners have put a hell of a lot of money into the football club and people don't realise that. It's nice to give something back to them and say 'thank you'.

"Our crowds have been low and I think that may be down to the way of the world at the moment. But the owners are still putting money in to make sure the club is running in the same manner. The owners deserve a lot of credit. People take for granted what they have done for the football club and the amount of money they have put in."

The Hawks boss hailed the triumph at Concord as the best since he took over as manager in February. "It was a fantastic victory. That's the best victory since I've been manager."

"There's a massive belief now that we can go on and achieve something," said Chapman.

To come back from 2-0 down showed a lot of determination and spirit. It's nice to get a great result like that and progress to the next round of the competition.

"I think we have turned the corner. Once we scored the first I said 'we are going to win this'. We looked more and more determined and you could see the belief when we equalised."

Striker James Peagram (ankle) should be fit for Saturday's league derby against Cheshunt, while defender Lamar Lemonious (ankle) is progressing well but will not be fit for this match.

Centre-half Lee Gledhill (hamstring) could return.

● RIGHT-back Donny Barnard has rejected a move back to Harlow Town. The player has nailed down a first team spot at Ryman premier AFC Hornchurch, who are chasing promotion this term.

"Tom Bruno has played the last three games at right-back and he has done excellently. I'm quite happy with Tom," said Chapman.

Due to Harlow's involvement in the FA Trophy, the scheduled home league game against Needham Market has been switched to Tuesday December 6.

Two sent off as violence flares

Old Cooperians 39, Upper Clapton 12

RFU Essex League, division one

SUPERIOR forward power brought victory for Old Cooperians over Upper Clapton, but Saturday's game was marred by two red cards.

A home player and Clapton second row player Ben Hester both received their marching orders during the second half, which was marked by a fracas. Hester sustained a broken jaw.

Earlier, Cooperians' tactic of using the rolling maul from line-outs paid rich dividends in the first half.

This produced four tries for the hosts as they built up a lead of 29-0 by the break.

Early second-half pressure saw Clapton's scrum-half James Hack take a quick tap-penalty and sprinted 20 metres to touch down a try.

Ross Stalley kicked a difficult conversion.

Shortly after, good fluent rugby from Clapton resulted in Mike Tindall scoring an unconverted try.

After both sides had lost a player, good tight play from the home forwards produced a try to round off the scoring.

Clapton are 7th in the 10-team division.

Other result: Upper Clapton U-14 24-19 Ilford Wanderers. Joe Gobby (two tries), Tom Hair and Luke Sky scored for Clapton.

Top world darts duo in stadium face-off

DARTS enthusiasts have the chance to watch and play against two of the world's top players at Harlow Greyhound Stadium on Thursday November 3.

PDC World Darts Champion Adrian Lewis, who is now sponsored by Harlow's Target Dart, is playing an exhibition match against Simon Whitlock.

Whitlock (PDC 2010 World Darts Championship runner-up) is sponsored by Harlow Greyhound Stadium.

The duo will also take on members of the audience in exhibition matches.

Stadium promotions manager Mick Godderidge said: "Lewis has promised to bring along the World trophy as well, so opportunities to have photos with the stars and the trophy will be available.

"The event is being called 'The Warm up for the Worlds' as both players have stated that they feel they can win the title."

Tickets are priced at £15. Call (01279) 426804 then option 2.

Hawks ground Concord

CELEBRATION: Hawks players and fans celebrate with Danny Brown, far left, after his equalising goal at Concord on Saturday
(Pic: Gary Lockwood)

FORGET the fish and the sea, the only thing Hawks fans could smell on Saturday at Canvey Island was the sweet aroma of an upset!

But at 2-0 down after only 15 minutes, it looked like it might be a stinker of a day for the visitors.

However, an incredible second-half fight-back saw Harlow win 3-2 at Ryman premier Concord Rangers in the first qualifying round of the FA Trophy.

In triumphing, Harlow beat a side who play one division above them in the non-League pyramid.

Harlow, who were missing injured defender Lee Gledhill, can now look forward to a plum home tie against Lewes, who were in the Conference in 2009.

There was a familiar face on the coaching staff at Concord as ex-Hawks ace Danny reports from Canvey Island

Cowley is joint manager and his brother Nicky play for Rangers, but he was suspended for Saturday's clash.

Cowley is now being helped by Rod Stringer, the man who took Braintree up to the Conference last season.

Stringer, who has applied for the Lincoln City job, has helped the Canvey-based side with several new recruits including experienced left-back Kurt Robinson, Karl Beckford and keeper Richard Hayward.

The hosts had the early edge and scored twice in the 7th and 15th minutes.

Ex-Waltham Abbey forward Harry Elmes tucked home after debutant striker Inih Effiong - on a three-month loan from Boreham Wood - easily beat Hawks stalwart defender Ryan Kirby in the air.

Tony Stokes doubled the advantage when he rifled home after more disappointing Hawks defending, who were caught out by the pace of the Concord side.

Harlow showed spirit but lacked a cutting edge in the rest of the half. Their only chance came when Piers Wixon was denied at point-blank range by Hayward.

But it was a different story after the break as Harlow dominated against a Concord side who failed to turn up for the second half.

Concord were lucky to have 10 men when the referee relieved Effiong by failing to show him a second yellow for a bad foul on young Hawks defender Jack Haverson just moments after he was cautioned for another poor challenge.

The deficit was halved on 66 minutes when Wixon headed home superbly from Danny Brown's excellent left-wing cross.

Brown made it 2-2 when he swatted aside two defenders and headed home a Leon Lalite corner on 80 minutes.

Shortly after, Wixon nodded wide before he grabbed a spectacular 86th-minute winner with a wonderful 25-yard shot. Unmarked, he curled the ball into the top right corner to complete a stunning fight-back.

Proud Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "Danny Brown showed sheer determination to beat two players and get in a position to head [the second] home. That's why he is my captain. You can see his influence on other players. Piers' third goal was very special."

HARLOW TN: Bossu 5, Bruno 8, Brown 8, Haverson 8, Kirby 6, Kilapi 7, Marshall 8, Lalite 7, WIXON 9, Bunn 6 (Pegram 66; Taylor 90), Deane 6 (Maxwell 89).

Trophy run 'payback' for owners

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman is hopeful that his side can 'give something back' to the club's owners by cashing in with a run in the Carlsberg FA Trophy.

Platinum Sports Management, run by Harlow Town FC chairman John Barnett and ex-Leyton Orient star Tom Cunningham, have pumped in thousands of pounds since rescuing the club from the brink of liquidation when they took over as owners some 20 months ago.

Harlow, who caused a shock by fighting back from 2-0 down at Ryman premier Concord Rangers to win 3-2 with a wonderful 86th-minute winning strike from forward Piers Wixon, picked up £2,200 for their efforts in their first qualifying round match.

They can secure £3,000 if they beat Lewes at home in the FA Trophy second qualifying round on Saturday November 5. Chapman said: "It's nice to put something

Rams hammered in title crunch match

THERE was a rude awakening as Harlow slipped to a heavy defeat at fellow title-chasing side Holt in an 'eight-pointer'.

The Norfolk team were by far the better side and Harlow were left empty-handed after their round trip of more than 200 miles on Saturday.

As Holt scored five tries they also secured a bonus point and the hosts' performance was marked by good tactical kicking in a strong cross wind.

The Rams are still second and now trail Holt by five points.

Rams senior coach Lee Harron, who filled in for Billy Powell (head injury) at scrum-half said: "There is a long way to go and they still have to come to our place.

"We have to bounce back against Wymondham this Saturday [at home]. We were beaten by a far better side."

Harron added: "We had a four-coach journey [because of traffic delays] but that is no excuse.

"We started well but did not take two chances in the first 20 minutes and they could have made a difference."

The Rams, missing experienced forward Paul Eynon and winger Wernez Kotze (both work commitments), started strongly and went ahead through an early Michael Dobson penalty.

The Essex side's pressure in the first half hour was thwarted by good tackling from the hosts.

But Holt looked dangerous when they had possession and went 5-3 ahead on the half-hour mark.

From a move starting inside the home 22, Holt conjured an unconverted try from Matt Jary-Ryan.

From the restart, Holt counter-attacked and the ball was chipped over the Harlow backs and it bounced kindly for Graham Ilsley to score their second try.

The conversion was one of four kicked by Iain Young and Holt led 12-3 at half-time.

The Norfolk team increased their advantage on 50 minutes.

A good handling move by the home backs resulted in a converted try for Young and any doubt about the result was settled by another converted try from Jary-Ryan on 65 minutes.

Although Harlow had more territory in the last 20 minutes they did not exploit it.

On 78 minutes, Holt scored their fifth try through Young. This came after a move from the backs after two missed tackles by the visitors.

Harron added: "They were better than us at the breakdown and out-muscled us there and a bit in the tight [scrums] too.

"They had a couple of good mid-field players who made a big difference for them. We also gave away penalties."

HARLOW: Mackie, Vanbeck (Hills 67), L. Bowering, Heapy, Grimley, Dobson, Harron, Roze, Mallia, Stonehouse (Cunningham 58), Twiner, Palmer, Roberts, M. Bowering (Drake 72), Hawkins.
